

Semi-Weekly Interior Journal.

VOL. XIV.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, AUGUST 24, 1886.

NO. 153.

Semi-Weekly Interior Journal

Published Tuesdays and Fridays
—AT—
$2 PER ANNUM, CASH.

I understand if we credit that $1.50 will be en-dected and demanded.

W. P. WALTON.

GEO. O. BARNES.

Praise the Lord. God is love and Nothing Else."

CONTINUED FROM LAST ISSUE.]

Once across the Sierras, and after breakfast at Reno, our dusty train struck the desert and kept in it the whole day thro'.
No words can express the forbidding appearance of this hideous waste. It is not a glorifying expanse of sand, like the Nubian or Sahara deserts, but something more depletedial. The face of the whitish, alkaline earth is covered with low sage brush and grease wood scrub, that are more dialy-depressing to look at than naked sand. The only living thing we saw in this God-forsaken stretch of desolation, were number-
less jack rabbits; thin-blanked, long legged creatures, all run to ears, that seemed to swarm and flourish in the awful solitudes.
They are called "marrow gunge mules" by
the feelings natives.

At Humboldt is a sweet oasis, that only
seems to set off surrounding horrors more vividly. A pretty fountain played before the hotel, in mockery, for the eye ranging
over it, fell upon the interminable sagebrush, that began again 50 yards behind
the range of wooden houses, that tried in vain to shut out from view the awful outside world.

The only offset to the dreariness was
that it was bounded in by low rolling ranges
of hills on the horizon on either hand. But imagination vaulted across these barriers
and pictured illimitable sage-brush and grease wood scrub beyond.

Dinner at Humboldt. Tea at Elko. Near this latter town off deer Abe Cowan wasted his life, so precious to us who loved
him, in digging for the gold he never found.
And he, poor fellow, was only one of the thousands. When I think how toiling, panting men have wrought in these savage,
barren gulches, in places washing down
whole mountains in search of shining dust,
enduring untold hardships, with only a vague hope ahead; and when I think how many have perished helplessly, amid these dreary wastes, who, but for this accursed
gold-dust and dreams of fortunes quickly
acquired, had lived happy lives at home,
and died with children's faces around their bodies, I hate the very name of "gold-mine" that has lured so many to destruction and enriched so few.

There is no "let up" on this frightful desert till 500 miles have been accomplished
and Corinne, in Utah, is reached the second morning out from San Francisco. Only sage brush and jack rabbits till we strike
the land of the Mormons. Here patient, toiling thrift begins to tell and the "wildness to blossom as the rose." With what joy we hailed the fields of purple incense,
ready for the mower's blade; wheat and oats in shock, standing thick in golden stacks upon the ripened stubble; while occasional hills of Indian corn told of a generational soil, and waved in tasseled gladness, a true Kentucky welcome. Men were driving teams to and fro; some were plowing
here and there; and all seeming to have something to do besides lazily lounging at railway stations, to stare at passing trains,
as the few we saw at stopping place in the desert did, and appeared to have nothing else on hands.

We reached Ogden about noon and then changed into the Denver & Rio Grande—
narrow-gauge—that takes the traveler over
the most pictur-esque route on the continent,
as all declare. From Ogden, on the Union Pacific, to Salt Lake City is 38
miles; a beautiful ride, with the great lake
on the right and the grand Wahatch range
to the left. Half way on the road we halled two hours to bathe in the Moraine Dad Sea, taking a later train to the city. We enjoyed it intensely. Convenient bathing-houses and bathing-suits, at a moderate charge, await the curious traveler, and he
may dipple and splash in the salt-water ad libitum. It is so buoyant that he is bound to swim; 4 buckets of water make a bucket
of salt. You float like a cork in such a mixture. It "swarts" sharply if you get the salt-water in eye or nostril. But that is easily avoided. We had a jolly time there.
At 2 p. m. ran down to the city of
the "Latter Day Saints" and found comfortable quarters at the Valley House, kept
by a "Gentile," but none the worse for that,
You get your $2.00 worth there. Even in Jesus.

More than 12 months ago a woman in La Grange, Ga., while feeding a large flock
of chickens, dropped a large diamond ring
from her finger, and not being able to find it,
concluded that one of the fowls had swallowed it. It was not thought best to kill all the chickens in order to find it, but the internal arrangements of each fowl afterward killed were carefully examined. A week ago the ring was found. It was under the skin just where it had been lost.

MT. SALEM, LINCOLN COUNTY.

A loaded log wagon turned over on Jack Alford near here last week, crushing him badly. It is said there are chances of his recovery.

Dick and Joe Allen, for the killing of deputy sheriff Tucker, were tried before an examining court at Liberty last week, and gave bond for their appearance at circuit court; Dick in the sum of $600 and Joe in the sum of $300.

A number of schools have suspended
in this and Casey counties on account of sickness. The prevailing disease is flux.
It is very bad on Carpenter's Creek. Five are down at William Myers' and one was in a precarious condition when last heard from. Your former correspondent, A. C.
Woodson, died a few days ago. Frank
Sims lost a child last Thursday.

They Heard Her Speak.

She was a sweet-faced, blue-eyed young girl, with great waves of golden hair brushed carefully back from a noble looking,
snow-white brow. Her ruddy lips were full and sweet. Innocence itself was in her great, blue eyes. Fair and sweet was she
in all the purity and gentleness of her fresh young womanhood.

Two young men have long been watching her with eagerness intense. Her glorious beauty had enthralled them.

"What a superb girl!" said one.

"How I would love to hear her speak. No 'sweet bells jingled'

would doubtless be the result of the magni-
fied attitude of some of the labor societies.

She spoke. A friend came down the aisle and said carelessly:

"A hot day, Miss D———"

The full, red lips parted slowly, the beautiful head turned with superb grace, a smile of seraphic sweetness illuminated
the noble features, soft and sweet and low
was her voice answer:

"Well, I should smirk to twit! I don't ain't no game for it!" [Detroit Free Press]

He Was Still Dead. —A story is told
of one of our local politicians who was canvassing for the nomination for a county office. One afternoon he attended a gathering in an out-township, and meeting an intelligent looking young man, whom he thought might have some influence, walked up to him and shook him warmly by the hand, inquiring: "How is your father?" The young man answered: "My father has been dead three years." "Indeed," replied the candidate, "I have not heard of it. I knew him intimately. He was one of my best friends and I regret to hear it. He was one of the best and perfect men I ever knew. You have my sympathy," etc. The same evening he met the same person in a village near by, and having forgotten his face, accused him the second time with the interrogatory: "How is your father?" The young man looked at him for a moment and said: "He is still dead!" and walked off. —[Minneapolis Times].

Why Vassar Girls Do Not Marry. — Motherhood is beautiful, and a babe in the house is a wellspring of joy. But this dwarfs the mind. At each advent the mother's mind goes back to begin anew
with the infant. She loses articulate speech and jabbers a jabberish to begin with its inarticulate language. What an intellectual trouble for a Vassar graduate!
A young one in the family gathers to its
inianities the mind of all the company,
and the visitors go away with a sense of sinking to intellectual vacuity. All this is lovely and does well enough for the present
domestic state of woman; but it is not for the emancipated, elevated, intellectual woman that is to come. She is not to receive a domestic wellspring of joy, but an intellectual terror. —[Cincinnati Commercial].

You LATE FOR JAZON TO BEGIN. —At a
funeral in North Carolina a few days ago,
the coffin arrived at the grave just as the sexton had finished inscribing some of the dirt thrown up and discovered indications of gold. Hasty consultation was held with the widow of the deceased and she was asked whether she would go ahead and work the claim or fill up the hole at the bottom. It is so buoyant that he is bound
to swim; 4 buckets of water make a bucket
of salt. You float like a cork in such a mixture. It "swarts" sharply if you get
the salt-water in eye or nostril. But that
is easily avoided. We had a jolly time there.
At 2 p. m. ran down to the city of
the "Latter Day Saints" and found comfortable quarters at the Valley House, kept
by a "Gentile," but none the worse for that,
You get your $2.00 worth there. Even in Jesus.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.
Capt. Coleman, whr. Weymouth, playing between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that on was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. This only gave him instant relief,
but allayed the extreme soreness in his breast.
His children were similarly affected and a single dose
had the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the old standing Kidney affection and says: "Nothing has done me so much good as Electric Bitter." Sold at 50 cents a bottle by Penny & McAllister's Drug Store.

Positive Cure for Piles.
To the people of this country we would say
that we have given the Agency of Dr. Marchal's
Italian Pill Ointment—euphemically guaranteed
to cure or money refunded—Internal, External,
Bleeding or Itching Piles. Price 50¢ a box,
Penny & McAllister, Druggists.

Daughters, Wives and Mothers.
We emphatically guarantee Dr. Marchal's Ca-
cholleon, a Female Remedy, t' cure Female Diseases, such as Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of bearing
down, Irregularities, Barrenness, Change of Life, Leucorrhœa, besides many weaknesses springing
from the above, like Headache, Blotting, Splan-
chnal Weakness, Sleeplessness, Nervous Debility,
Palpitation of the Heart, Ac. for sale by Druggists. Price $1 and $1.50 per bottle. Send to Dr.
J. B. Marchal, Utica, N. Y., for pamphlet, free.

Hubert O. Thompson's bill at the Hoff-mon House, in New York, averaged $37, 000 a year.

Katie Putnam, the actress, has an annual income of $10,000 from her fruit farm in Michigan.

A SIMPLE REMEDY FOR CHRONIC DIAR- RHOEA.

Dr. T. C. Suiter, writing in the Med. and Surg. Reporter, mentions the fact of his having cured a case of chronic diarrhoea,
which had lasted for nearly 40 years,
by the administration of a saturated solution of salt and cider vinegar. A drachm being taken three or four times a day. He also states that since the first instance
where he recommended this homely remedy, without supposing that it would equally do any good, he has employed it several times in more or less severe cases of chronic diarrhoea, in which it produced
great improvement, and, in some cases,
cure. Where relapses followed the suspension of the remedy, its renewed administration was again followed by improvement.

A movement against labor unions is already seen at nearly every manufacturing
center. The mill owners at Louisville, Ky.,
have just organized against trade unions,
and propose to make the Knights of Labor
raise a strike at that place by shutting
down all the mills. A shoe manufacturer
at Lynn, Mass., who employed 700 men,
lately closed his establishment and refused
to resume work until his men agreed to
leave the unions to which they belonged.
A protective association to resist tyranny
and interference on the part of the trades-
unions has also been formed by the New England textile manufacturers, and many other
organizations for the same purpose,
will doubtless be the result of the magni-
fied attitude of some of the labor societies.

A movement against labor unions is al-
ready seen at nearly every manufacturing
center. The mill owners at Louisville, Ky.,
have just organized against trade unions,
and propose to make the Knights of Labor
raise a strike at that place by shutting
down all the mills. A shoe manufacturer
at Lynn, Mass., who employed 700 men,
lately closed his establishment and refused
to resume work until his men agreed to
leave the unions to which they belonged.
A protective association to resist tyranny
and interference on the part of the trades-
unions has also been formed by the New England textile manufacturers, and many other
organizations for the same purpose,
will doubtless be the result of the magni-
fied attitude of some of the labor societies.

—Miss Anna Vaughn, of Christiansburg,

will begin teaching at Locust Grove Academy, this county, next Monday. Miss Anna has taught several terms at the above
college, to the satisfaction of all her patrons.

—Ed. Jesse Walden delivered a temperance lecture at the Christian church Sunday evening. The local option hall is opening up and promises to keep things
lively until the vote is taken some time in October. The temperance people will spare no pains in canvassing the entire county and have strong hopes of winning.

—The fall term of the Garrard circuit court convened Monday morning with his honorable Judge T. Z. Morrow on the bench.
Attorney Herndon's commission having failed to arrive, our old faithful "Dick"
Warren was present to represent the Commonwealth. A two weeks' term will likely disperse of the dockets, which is a slight one.

—Misses Clara Orchard and Ida Manly,

who have been the guests of Misses Juliet Gill for several weeks past, returned to their homes at Bloomington, Ind., Thursday, much to the regret of the many friends
they made while here. Mr. J. M. Frazer and daughters, Anna and Fannie, of Mayville, are guests of Mrs. H. C. Jennings, near town. Miss Lula Anderson has gone to the Indian Territory to live with her sister, Mrs. J. K. Young. Ed. Jesse Walden is removing to his new property on Lexington street. Miss Mamie Olds has returned from Richmond. Miss May Ferguson, of Covington, and Miss Luman,
of Cincinnati, are guests of Miss Sara Anderson.

—A CURE FOR DIARRHEA AND CRAMPS.

—Take pulverized camphor, chloroform,
essence of peppermint, laudanum, each 2
drachms; glycerin, 4 drachms; alcohol 7
drachms; wine, 5 fl. oz. First dose, one teaspoonful in a third of a tumbler of pure water and repeat after each liquid stool. The remedy

is an old one that has been more successful than any other medical preparation. The dose is a full one for adults, and for young persons or a slight attack, reduce the dose accordingly. Be careful in eating;
avoid meats and uncooked food and use no
ice water. —[Farmers Home Journal].

A little green apple hung up in a tree,
singing "Johnnie, come Johnnie, come Johnnie!" And it was as modest as modest could be, siegling, "Johnnie, come Johnnie, come Johnnie!" And Johnnie he came in his sweet, childish way, and ate up the fruit as his own lawful prey. His mourning companions are crying to-day, "Where is Johnnie, where's Johnnie, where's Johnnie?"

Buckley's Arnica Salve.

The best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises,
Sores, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped
Tands, Catbills, Corns and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or pay no required. I am guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Penny & McAllister.

Interesting Experiences.

Ulysses Cameron, Furniture Dealer of Columbus,
Ga., tells his experience thus: "For three years
I have tried every remedy on the market for Stomach and Kidney Disorders, but got no relief, until I used Electric Bitters. Took five bottles and not once cured, and think Electric Bitters the best Blood Purifier in the world." Major A. B. Reed, of West Liberty, Ky., used Electric Bitters for an old standing Kidney affection and says: "Nothing has done me so much good as Electric Bitter." Sold at 50 cents a bottle by Penny &

McAllister's Drug Store.

Positive Cure for Piles.

To the people of this country we would say
that we have given the Agency of Dr. Marchal's
Italian Pill Ointment—euphemically guaranteed
to cure or money refunded—Internal, External,
Bleeding or Itching Piles. Price 50¢ a box,
Penny & McAllister, Druggists.

Daughters, Wives and Mothers.

We emphatically guarantee Dr. Marchal's Ca-
cholleon, a Female Remedy, t' cure Female Diseases, such as Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of bearing
down, Irregularities, Barrenness, Change of Life,
Leucorrhœa, besides many weaknesses springing
from the above, like Headache, Blotting, Splan-
chnal Weakness, Sleeplessness, Nervous Debility,
Palpitation of the Heart, Ac. for sale by Druggists. Price $1 and $1.50 per bottle. Send to Dr.
J. B. Marchal, Utica, N. Y., for pamphlet, free.

Happiness

comes from that true contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind.
You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla for an old standing
Kidney affection and it gave instant relief,
but allayed the extreme soreness in his breast.
His children were similarly affected and a single dose
had the same happy effect. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I never feel safe, even great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kidder, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even when I am ill.

—James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla for an old standing
Kidney affection and it gave instant relief,
but allayed the extreme soreness in his breast.
His children were similarly affected and a single dose
had the same happy effect. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I never feel safe, even

</

Semi-Weekly Interior Journal

Stanford, Ky., . . . August 24, 1886

W. P. WALTON.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.
For Congress.
JAMES B. McCREARY.
Of Madison.

MURAT HALSTEAD and John R. McLean, the Cincinnati mud-slingers, came as near fighting the other day as cowards ever do. For years these two men in their respective receptacles of filth, the Commercial and the Enginer, have branded each other with all kinds of epithets and infamies, to the detriment of decent people, and never a word of fight has been spoken. But another Cincinnati paper hit into Halstead in a way he despised, whereupon that individual dispatched Col. W. G. Terrell, the notorious duelist, to Saratoga, the summer residence of Coal Oil Johnnie, to demand satisfaction or blud. At first Johnnie refused to communicate with Terrell on the subject, but being pressed, he sent for Gen. Roger A. Pryor to act as his second. The master was referred to him, McLean denied any connection with the offending paper, Halstead's wrath was assuaged and he pronounced himself satisfied. So ended the war of the tumble-hugs.

The Lexington Observer says that those unregenerate individuals, Soule Smith and Charles Moore, who have been using Bro. Barnes' name in his absence with a freedom not altogether allowable, fled to where the woodbine twineth as soon as they heard he was coming to Lexington, another instance of the wicked fleeing when no man pursueth. Though physically able to use either of them up, Mr. Barnes wouldn't harm a hair in either's head and our advice to them is to return, confess the Savior and flee only from the error of their ways.

Joe BLACKBURN relaxed that huge orifice in his face a few days ago and thus addressed the President: "Mr. Cleveland, if I were President of the United States, I would call my cabinet together and say, 'Gentlemen, if there is a single republican office-holder in your departments at the expiration of a period of ten days your resignation will be accepted forthwith.' Briefly, I consider civil service the biggest hexagon ever perpetrated upon the American people." And Joseph seems to us to have "diagnosed" the case correctly.

BRO. SUTTON, of the Breckenridge News, has a two-column open letter in his last issue, in which he characterizes Tom Robertson, candidate for re-election to Congress, as a disgusting drunkard, totally unfit for any trust. The red-hot racer ever known is now being run by Mr. Robertson and Mr. Montgomery and each is accused of every crime in the category. To a man up a tree it looks like both ought to be relegated to obscurity and a decent man sent to Congress from that district.

The new democratic hand-book just issued by Senator Kenyon and gotten up, it is said, principally by Phil Thompson, is not regarded with much respect by the New York World, which says that the work of the volume shows that the conduct of the campaign has fallen into the hands of sophomores and that if the democrats are not beaten in the coming canvass it will not be because they have not a surfeit of schoolboy composition to help them on to defeat.

An exchange remarks: "The republicans of Tennessee have nominated Alfred Taylor for governor; the democrats have nominated his brother, Robert L. Taylor, and the prohibitionists talk seriously of putting up the father of the two brothers as their candidate. If they do, the green-backers of the State ought to nominate the old lady."

Mrs. H. W. NEWKIRK has sold the Williamsburg Times to Messrs. N. A. Richardson, A. Gettiffie, G. A. Denham and Jerry Atkins for $1,000 and returned Sunday to his home in Michigan. The paper will now be made out and out democratic and we trust its new owners will have easy sailing on the journalistic sea.

THE jury in the trial of the anarchists at Chicago for throwing the bombs which killed so many policemen, did its work well, and when the seven scoundrels that it has condemned to die shall ornament a scaffold, the country will breathe freer. Anarchism can not flourish in this country.

AN old reprobate who heretofore stood high in social and church circles at Newark, N. J., is in jail charged with having ruined 60 young girls. If the charge be true the citizens should not permit the law to take its course, but end the scoundrel's existence at once.

JUDGE LESLIE may get in after all. An error, it is said, has been found in the Hart poll books of 8 against him, which, if correct, elects him by 4 votes instead of Carr. We hope it is true. Now let there be a close scrupulous of the books as between Warren and Herndon.

A POSTAL from Pat McDonald, Esq., says that he will begin the publication at Frankfort September 2, of the Western Argus, a weekly newspaper which will contain all matters transpiring in the State department and the news of the day.

THE news comes that the Mexican authorities have decided to release Cutting, but this will not stop the war talk, as it is understood that the United States will depute indemnity.

The Cincinnati Exposition will open September 1 and close Oct. 9. Railroad rates are special excursion rates.

THE last bond call runs up the total this year to $20,000,000. Cleveland did not sign the surplus reduction bill, but he is having the debt reduced right along all the same.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

The Acting Secretary of the Treasury has issued a call for $15,000,000 of three per cent. loan of 1882.

John T. Snyder, of Clark county, who was horribly bitten in the face by a mad dog, is dying in great agony of hydrocephalus.

Robert L. Taylor, democratic nominee for Governor of Tennessee, has tendered his resignation as Pension Agent at Knoxville.

Canton, O., has given the Dueber Watch Case Co. $100,000 to locate its manufacturing there and it will be removed from Newport, Ky.

The condemned Anarchists at Chicago declined to see a minister of the gospel Sunday, saying that they wanted no religious consolation.

A very destructive storm visited Galveston, Seguin, San Antonio and other sections of Texas Friday. Crops were destroyed and some lives were lost.

Drew Johnson, a farmer living near Glen Allen, Mo., shot and killed his wife Friday morning, and then put a ball into his own brain. He was insane.

C. B. Simmons, who stole $38,000 from the L. & N. and struck out for Canada, has compromised with the company and will return to his home in Louisville.

An illicit distillery has been discovered in the county jail at Atlanta. The worm was an India rubber tube and the whiskey was from the corn bread.

The Pope has condemned the Knights of Labor and the Bishop of the church are enjoined against the order, as against all the secret societies under the Papal ban.

The Republicans of the 11th Congressional district have called a convention to assemble at Campbellsville, September 1st, to nominate a candidate for Congress against Maj. Botts.

The fifty-eighth annual council of the Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky will meet in St. Paul's church, Louisville, Wednesday, September 22. Bishop Dudley will preside.

An assassin who attempted to shoot the President of Uruguay in a theatre at Montevideo last Tuesday evening, was captured by the audience and literally stamped to death.

Claude Carr, aged 40, who gave up his wife for the embraces of a beautiful honee girl, committed suicide at Lexington after a year of quarrels and fights with her as his mistress.

The people and troops at Sofia, Bulgaria, surrounded the palace Saturday, and Prince Alexander abdicated and was escorted over the frontier. There was no discord or bloodshed.

The Kentucky Union Railroad has been sold to a Scotland syndicate, who get possession September 1, and will extend it to Virginia southward, and to Georgetown, Ky., northward.

A woman who had lost £12,000 at the Monte Carlo gaming tables, committed suicide at Grenoble. This is the 76th suicide occasioned by losses at Monte Carlo since the season began.

Frank Ebert, of Frankfort, who has done other work in the same line, stabbed Jake Dudley, a colored man, in that city four times Sunday morning. He bullied two policemen and escaped arrest.

Levi Gastineau, a well-to-do farmer of Pulaski, committed suicide by blowing his brains out with a pistol ball. He had a wife and several children. Domestic trouble is given as the cause of the rash act.

In a general row over the possession of a prostitute, Bill Miller, a section hand at Flat Rock, on the Cincinnati Southern, formerly of Danville, was killed by Henry Collins, who shot him through the heart.

Fred Pappeneimer, son of a wealthy New York merchant, committed suicide in Louisville because, according to a note left by him, "I am of no good and never will be, and will go to another world where I can do more harm."

Information from the Ninth district is to the effect that Hon. W. H. Wadsworth will be the republican candidate for re-election to Congress, while either Judge Wall, of Mason, or Mr. Bacon, of Bath, will be the democratic nominee.

The Beaver Creek coal miners have at last gone to work on half time, accepting the scale of prices offered last March. The convicts at Greenwood are working away and but little is said of them since the small politicians have ceased to agitate the subject.

It is announced that Mrs. Cleveland has consented to open the Minneapolis Exposition. A wire is to be extended to the President's cottage in the Adirondack Mountains, and at the proper time Mrs. Cleveland is to press a button and start the machinery.

Wm. N. Hill, aged seventy, gave Miss Mary Magee, aged twenty, a number of useful presents in expectancy of marriage. Miss Magee had other ideas, however, and the Jessamine Circuit Court has just decided that she must return the presents to the ancient donor.

Wm. Watkins, a journeyman bricklayer, formerly of Louisville, stabbed to death, at Aurora, Ind., his employer, Louis Hilbert, who had refused to advance him $2. Within a few minutes after the commission of the murder Watkins was lynched by the infuriated citizens.

The preliminary statement of the business of the Louisville & Nashville railroad for the fiscal year ending June 30 shows the gross earnings to have been $13,177,018, a decrease from the previous year of $759,323. The net earnings were $1,903,728. The total cost of changing the gauge was $10,000.

The news comes that the Mexican authorities have decided to release Cutting, but this will not stop the war talk, as it is understood that the United States will depute indemnity.

The Cincinnati Exposition will open September 1 and close Oct. 9. Railroad rates are special excursion rates.

The husband of Harriet Beecher Stowe, died Sunday at Hartford, Conn., aged eighty-four.

The new St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum at Crescent Hill was dedicated Sunday by Bishop McCloskey in the presence of 12,000 persons. The building is one of the most imposing of the many admirable charitable institutions in Louisville and vicinity.

Gov. Zulick, of Arizona, who is in Washington, says: "It is estimated that in the raids made by the Geronimo's band of Indians since their first surrender in 1873, there have been 2,500 persons murdered in Mexico, Arizona and the adjoining Territories, besides the destruction of a vast amount of property."

The official returns show that J. P. Marrs, of Whitesburg, was elected Commonwealth's attorney in the 19th district, instead of Hurst, as was believed last week. Mr. Marrs is a democrat. His majority is about 500, while his running mate, Bamford White, candidate for circuit judge, was defeated by Col. Lilly by about 100 votes.

Following is the righteous verdict returned by the jury in the trial of the anarchists at Chicago: "We, the jury, find the defendants, August Spies, Michael Schwab, Samuel Fielden, Albert R. Parsons, Adolph Fischer, George Engel and Louis Ling, guilty of murder as charged in the indictment, and fix the penalty at death. We find the defendant, Oscar W. Neese, guilty of murder in manner and form as charged in the indictment, and fix the penalty at imprisonment in the penitentiary for 15 years."

Hardin county has public school fund of $30,000. Has over one hundred public schools, four colleges and academies, and three female seminaries. It has 73 churches of all the leading denominations.

Two railroads running entirely through it and the prospect for a third. It has on Muldraugh's Hill the acknowledged finest fruit section between the Alleghany and Rocky Mountains. It is out of debt and only requires a tax of ten cents on the hundred dollars and a poll of $2.50 to pay all the expenditures. It has not a saloon within its borders and intoxicating liquors are not allowed to be sold for any purpose whatever.—[Elizabethtown News.]

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

Falconer, by Harry O'Fallon, was again victorious at Saratoga on Wednesday, winning from a large field.

Jake Clem's trial before County Judge Lee on Saturday on a charge of packing a pistol, was not completed and was adjourned until Tuesday. Jerry Owens was the prosecuting witness.

Judge M. H. Owles was here on Saturday and held a called term of the Boyle Circuit Court for the construction of the will of Mrs. Hutchinson, deceased, who was the widow of Thos. Hutchison.

F. M. Ware, of this county, sold Monday morning to Israel Brown, of Cincinnati, 105 fat hogs, averaging 205 lbs. each at 4½ cents. Good judges pronounce this to be the finest looking lot of hogs they have seen for a long time.

Mr. Bryan Y. Craig and his cousin, Mr. Henry Sheppard, of Chicago, are visiting the family of Mr. J. J. Craig. The first named is a son of Rev. Green Craig, formerly of this county. Misses Lucy and Lizzie Boggs, of Hustonville, were in town last week on a brief visit to Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Boggs.

Wm. Minor, the young man from the West End recently pronounced to be of unsound mind, is still in jail, the superintendent of all three of the State lunatic asylums saying they are all full up and can take no more patients. This thing is becoming too common. How would it do to build a few more Asylums?

Col. A. M. Swope was in town Sunday. His friends will be gratified to learn that his health has been entirely restored. Dr. I. S. Warren returned to his home in Pulaski county, on Saturday. Mr. J. R. M. Polk, of the Louisville bar, was in town Friday and Saturday, preparing for trial the case of Welsh & Co. vs. Tim Masterson now pending in the Boyle Circuit Court.

Mr. O. P. McRoberts (better known as Perry McRoberts,) of Tennessee, is here visiting his daughter, Miss Mary, and his son, Mr. O. P. McRoberts, Jr., and other friends. He will be in Stanford some time during the present week. Major John A. Haney has returned to his home in Denton, Texas, after a pleasant visit to relatives there. Mrs. Geo. T. Schoolfield and children have returned from a visit to relatives in Spencer county.

The Clippers of Danville and the Burgins, of Burgoon, had a little game on Saturday; 21 to 8 is the way the score stood at the end in favor of the Danville. The John Masonheimer nine also played the Junction City nines on Saturday. John's Club was playing a strong game, but the hour coming on when some of the gladiators had to quit and drive their cows home, the game was suspended until a more convenient season.

HUSTONVILLE, LINCOLN COUNTY.

Our town marshal has added the 10th member to his voluminous family—a girl.

—Mrs. John Jones, daughter of the late Squire Hughes, died Monday night from acute mania.

A threatening storm of wind and rain, with thunder and lightning accompaniment, burst upon us Sunday night. Have not heard yet how it dealt with the telephones.

—I regret to say to teachers that there is no probability that the law directing monthly pay can be made operative in the county this year. The prorata will be the same as last year—$165. I will be closely engaged in office work this week.

The Knot and the Mile.

The "Knot" and the mile are terms often used interchangeably, but erroneously so. The fact is that a mile is less than 87 per cent. of a knot. Three and one-half miles are equal within a very small fraction, to three knots. The knot is 6,028.66 feet in length. The statute mile is 5,280 feet.

The result of the difference is that speed in miles per hour is always considerably larger than when stated in knots, and if a person forgets this and states a speed at so many knots, when it was really so many miles, he may be giving figures verging on the incredible.—Philadelphia Call.

Sheep Often Wear Chamois Skins.

The Boat and Shoe Record says that the number of animals from which the chamois skins are taken which are killed in a year does not exceed 1,000, while tens of thousands of chamois skins are put upon the trade yearly, and wonders what is the matter. The Record should be aware that a good many sheep wear chamois skins—New York Comptroller of Agriculture.

The wife and son of Jesse P. Rife are suffering from typhoid fever. His daughter, Mrs. T. L. Carpenter, is prostrated with the same disease. James Powell is undergoing an attack of flux, which disease is prevailing to a large extent in Casey county. Miss Mattie Dinwiddie, who was injured last week by the upsetting of her buggy, is mending very slowly. Mr. Steele, of the firm of Weatherford & Steele, is closing out stock, preparatory to starting for Texas about the close of the month.

The prohibition boom is the prevailing epidemic with us at present. The Hon. Rev. Gen. Green Clay Smith delivered a very neat and effective address on the subject at the Baptist church on Friday. Mrs. Neill is ill for Monday night and Tuesday morning. So long as the question is handled by such minds as those we may expect an able and devout discussion. Unfortunately, however, both for the cause in question and public decency, we have always a host of scurrilous, hedgehog statesmen, in whose political economists, who, like J. S. Mill's war horse, "smell the battle from afar;" but unlike Bismarck's son, often fail to give in words of the nature of wisdom. Already these matric reformers are enunciating the dread dictum that no man, nor his son, nor his son's son to the remotest generation who fails to vote with them need ever expect the suffrages of an outraged people. This may be legitimate argument, but it seems to smack rather too much of intolerance in a land which once held the doctrine of free speech, a free press and free suffrage.

CRAB ORCHARD, LINCOLN COUNTY.

Governor Bell at Crab Orchard Springs Friday night.

Mrs. H. L. Steger will for the next two weeks sell any or all of her millinery stock at cost. It will greatly oblige her if all those indebted to her will call in the same time and settle. Aug. 17-18.

Furnishing Obituary Poetry.

Another business that is heard of now and then, the furnishing of obituary poetry, is successful in the hands of a man who lives somewhere on the east side. He writes the papers for death notices, and, having chosen one that long experience has taught him is apt to be available for his purpose, he goes to the bereaved locality, inspects the house, asks what questions about the family he can of the neighbors, and then goes home and writes a "poem" appropriate to the occasion. A day or two after the funeral he calls upon the relatives, and, expressing sympathy for their affliction, claims to have been a friend of the departed, and, moved by the termination of his or her career, has written "this little tribute," which he delicately offers for a reasonable sum. It is said that his price is usually $5, and that he makes from $10 to $15 a week from his literary efforts.

There is another sort of people who engage in the practice of inspecting the death notices for business. The attention of these persons is limited to the decease of wives. They are women of rather uncertain repute, and their object is to get an engagement as housekeeper for the widow. Their method of operation is much the same as that employed by the obituary poet. But they sometimes go further. I heard of a man who had lost his wife, and at the funeral was surprised to see several strange women. Hardly was the burial over when he received six applications for the position of housekeeper, each one of the applicants having been seen at the funeral.

Characteristics of the Germans.

Perhaps the popular idea that a German is a somewhat pugnacious, unyielding individual, with more staying powers than momentum, to take it all in all, is tolerably correct. It is a sore point to refer, within the hearing of any of the Kaiser Wilhelm's subjects, to Voltaire's doubt whether "un Allemann peut avoir de l'esprit." Yet the doubt must not unfrequently have struck others besides the venomous Frenchman, a certain lumpishness being common to the people at large.

No race is more frugal, more patient, more hardy or more easy to govern; hence they make the best of colonists, just as the Celts, and the Celto-Latin, the Frenchman, make the worst. Yet these qualities, in which he excels when transplanted to a foreign soil, are less marked at home. The brawniness of the German makes him, as a workman, dilatory, unpunctual, slow, and often "jungling." His handiwork has seldom the neatness of the Frenchman's, and it is not often that he can be depended on to finish what he has contracted to perform within the stipulated period. Hence, railway contractors preferred the English navy, not that it was so much stronger than the German, but simply because he did not so many excuses for interference with his continuous work.—People of the World.

Semi-Weekly Garter Journal

Stanford, Ky., - August 24, 1886

E. C. WALTON, - Business Manager.

L. & N. LOCAL TIME CARD

Mail train going North..... 1:45 P. M.
South..... 12:15 P. M.
Express train South..... 1:25 A. M.
North..... 2:15 A. M.
Time above is calculated on standard time. Hours
take about 20 minutes longer.

LOCAL NOTICES.

WATCHES and Jewelry repaired on short
order and warranted by Penny & McAllister.

Buy the Haas Dog Biscuit, the original
and only genuine, from Penny & McAllister.

A COMPLETE stock of jewelry, latest style. Rockford watches a specialty. Penny & McAllister.

PERSONAL.

Mrs DR. J. S. COOPER is visiting Mrs. S. P. Stagg.

B. G. PENNINGTON, of Pulaski, is here
with his parents.

Mrs. W. C. WHEARRETT has gone to visit friends at Richmond.

MR AND MRS. BEN BRIGHT, of Garrard, were guests of Mr. Will Craig.

Mrs. T. W. Green, dispatcher on the Air Line, is visiting his parents here.

Mrs. JULIA CRAIG DUNN, of Richmond, has been visiting relatives here.

R. M. JACKSON, of London, and G. W.
Fagan, of Pine Hill, were here Saturday.

Mrs HANNAH SCOTT, of Jessamine, came over with Miss Mattie Paxton yesterday.

Mrs. THOS. RICHARDS returned Saturday from a week's visit in Garrard
county.

Mrs IDA ADAMS, an attractive young lady of Mt. Vernon, was on a visit to friends here.

THAT stylish beauty, Miss May Ferguson, of Covington, is the guest of Miss Daily Burnside.

Mrs. LELIA LYNN, of Florida, arrived
on a visit to her mother, Mrs. S. H. Klog, yesterday.

Pretty little Ethel Tyler, who has been visiting Mrs. George H. Bruce, returned to Lexington yesterday.

Mr. G. C. KELLER, of the Harrodsburg Democrat, was here yesterday, drawn thither by a pretty girl.

GUY JAMES B. GIVENS, of Louisville, who has been in the county for several weeks, was here Saturday.

Mrs. HALLIE CONN and little daughter of Monterey, Ky., are visiting Mrs. T. R.
Walton and other relatives here.

Mrs. WM E. AMON, Mrs. J. T. O' Hair and Mrs. Zin Duddar have gone to visit relatives in southern Illinois.

MR. WATT COCHRAN, of Louisville, was the guest of D. R. Carpenter, on his return from Rock Castle Springs.

T. M. GOODINRICH, of Frankfort, who married Miss Nora Murphy, is announced
a candidate for superintendent of public instruction.

We are obliged to friends for sending us personal either by postal or letter, but must request that they sign their names, to save us from imposition.

W. G. MCKINNEY will leave to morrow for Madisonville, where he goes to take the first clerkship in the depot, under his brother, J. L. McKinney.

After a pleasant visit to his parents
in Virginia and a few days' sojourn at the seashore, Mr. W. B. Walton is again
sticking tye in this office.

Mr. J. S. PENNYBACKER, of King's Mountain, was here Saturday, looking very much better. He has been affected with a liver trouble for some time.

Mrs. J. S. GRIMES and wife, of Elizabethtown, came up on a visit to his parents
Friday. Mr. Grimes returned yesterday, but Mrs. Grimes will remain a week or two.

The young ladies will reverse the order of things and furnish the gentlemen
with escorts and conveyances to the meeting of the Mob at Miss Annie Wray's next Thursday night.

Miss LUCY APPERSON, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. M. Phillips, for several months, returned to her home in Richmond, Va., yesterday. Richard Apperson returned with her.

Mrs. S. M. WILHITE has returned from Louisville, whence he went to look out a position. He has a partial promise of a lucrative one and will probably take it
about the 15th of September.

Mrs. W. G. WELCH went over to Lexington yesterday to see the Barnes Troupe
and invite them to Stanford as her guests.
The manager of the Opera House will cheerfully tender its free use to the great
evangelist, should he accept the invitation.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Our office force is full again for the first time since June 1.

Six building lots for sale between Stanford and Rowland. H. J. Darst.

GENUINE Bi Ping Tea at 60 cents per pound at A. A. Warren's Model Grocery.

I am daily receiving my line of fall
goods and would be glad to have you call
and examine. H. C. Ray.

For SALE—46 boxes of bees at $2.50
each, also all kinds of farming implements. Am going West soon. All for sale cheap:
W. H. Bartleson.

The city authorities would oblige the public by seeing that the lamps are lighted with some regularity. Sunday night when they were most needed they were with few exceptions as dark as the night, and people attending church had to gropethere way
in the dark. They do.

A BABY has been born to the wife of Frank Dawson.

WANTED.—Pupils in music. Apply to Mrs. J. E. Portman.

THE SEMINARY, Prof. Rogers principal,
will open to morrow.

More rain and likewise more grass and corn. The farmers are indeed in luck.

WATERMELON rinders are as thick now
as leaves in Vallombrosa, or as fiddlers in sheol or words to such effect.

A TRAIN ran over and killed a cow belonging to Mr. Joe Governeur Saturday night, which was valued at $75.

FOURTEEN shares of Farmers' Bank stock and five city of Stanford bonds (one hundred dollars) will be sold court day.

THERE were four corpses in town Sunday; Mrs. Alford and three colored persons, Susie Craig, Bob Caldwell and a child of Smith Embry.

THE Oilet Mill at the Factory is prepared to do custom grinding and solicits
the patronage of those having work in that line. B. Mattingly.

MR. ALLEN, GILMORE, who lived a bachelor till he was past three score, is the father of a girl baby. He is now 60, but his wife is young and pretty.

DR. BOURNE spoke on prohibition at Goshen Sunday and Mr. W. H. Miller
went to answer him, but the doctor kept
on talking so long that the lawyer didn't get a chance to say a word.

FOR or against prohibition is the absorbing question here now and will be until the election on the 11th of September. Both sides have speakers in the field and the controversy promises to be a warm one.

EXTENSIVE preparations are being made at Crab Orchard Springs for the Governor's Ball, which is to occur next Friday night.
In addition to our own Governor, those of several other States are expected.

LUMBER.—Mr. A. C. Sine returned from Buffalo, N. Y., Saturday and will travel to Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana in the interest of G. Elias & Bro's. great timber and lumber establishment of Buffalo. Mr.
Sine, besides being an affable and pleasant
gentleman, is especially fitted for the business, having spent much of his life in the trade. See advertisement in this issue.

TAKEN BACK.—At the last term of the Lincoln circuit court, Armp Petry, a white man, was sentenced to the penitentiary for a year for stealing a hog of the value of $4
the strongest evidence against him being that of his own brother-in-law, W. H. Ilar-
ley. Petry was sent to the institution and in due course of time put to work on a railroad contract in Campbell county. Considering that half of his time had nearly expired, the guards were not very particular with him, thinking that he would not run the risk of doubling his term by escaping. But he did the first chance he got
and came back to his home in this county,
where his ex-wife, good brother-in-law took
him in charge and lodged him in jail here,
whence he was subsequently taken back to prison. Harris said to us that there was $50 reward for Petry and he had just as well take it as anybody else.

KANG.—Marshal Newland went to Bow-
ton, Nelson county, Sunday, and arrested
W. C. Mullins, who is charged with Boone, Hicks and Price, of Livingston, with deceiving against her will Mrs. Amanda Minton, whom they repeatedly ravished. It is stated that Mrs. Minton had come down to Livingston on the K. C. from Madison to take the L. & N., when the men named conceived the idea that they afterwards carried out so hellish. According to her story they jerked her from the train, and taking her off into the woods forced her to spend the night with them. Three of the men were shortly afterwards arrested and lodged in jail at Mt. Vernon, but Mullins escaped and was captured as above. He says that he had nothing to do with the crime, but that remains to be judicially investigated. The brakeman who witnessed the detention has been discharged for not raising an alarm, and the L. & N. authorities intend that the guilty parties shall suffer the full penalty.

MARRIAGES.

The new revenue bill increases marriage licenses from $1.50 to $2, after September 15th.

Mr. W. G. Haggard obtained license
yesterday to marry Mrs. Angelina Reynolds. The ceremony was to occur at Mr.
Dick Smith's last night.

Squire Massey Beasley has united 3, 600 eloquent couples in the holy bonds of matrimony in the past 15 years at Aberdeen, Ohio.

A neatly-engraved invitation informs us that our handsome young friend, Mr. D.
A. Shanshan, well-known in this section as a contractor on the extension of the Kentucky Central, will be married September 1st to Miss Mayne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McDonald, of Louisville. We extend goodwishes in advance, confident
that Dennis will make a model husband.

RELIGIOUS.

The religious denominations in the United States have 16,321,20 members.

Rev. F. D. Isle's meeting at Harrodsburg continues with unabated interest, the auditions now numbering over 60.

Tate's Creek Association will meet at Vine Fork on the 31st and Cumberland

River at Double Springs on the same day.
Eld. J. G. Livingston writes: "I closed
my meeting at Adams' School-House Sunday night with 65 additions. Eighty-five persons have united with Mt. Olive church in the two last Sundays; fruits of our co-operative work."

—The Northern Presbyterians received more additions in membership last year
than ever before—51,157. The net gain was 17,784.

—At the Baptist Mission in Osgood, India, 2,222 persons were baptized by six administrators in a single day. Only two were baptized at a time.

—A religious paper estimates that heavy rain contains 30,321,843,750,000,000 rooms
sixteen feet square. This is getting things down to a pretty fine point.

—By the upsetting of a sail-boat on Lake Minnetonka Sunday evening three of its four occupants were drowned—Robert Thibert, a prominent real estate agent;
W. B. Jackson, Secretary and Treasurer of the Monitor Plow-works Company, and a hired man.

—Brother Barnes is now holding forth in Woodland Park, Lexington. The Transcript reports him as saying that Bob Inger
is a good man and doing a good work,
and that if Jesus were to come to Lexington
the church people would cruelty him. But the papers sometimes get those kinds of things mixed.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

—The Sunday school convention at
Frankfort was very largely attended and
was the most pleasant and profitable of the series.

—One of the many things done was
to divide the State into 15 districts, each
county having a vice president, as before-
while each district is under president.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE!

WOMAN AND HOME.

SOME OF THE SELF-MADE WOMEN OF OUR COUNTRY.

French "In She Is Spoke" In Cookery—Death on Flies—House Cleaning—To the Married—The Parlatoune—A Singer—No Page—Notes.

The sweet poetess, Lucy Larcom, was a milk-hand.

Adelaide Phillips, the singer, now dead, was a treasury girl, and so for a time was Sara Jewett, the actress.

Pretty Maude Grainger, with the golden-brown eyes and shapely form, first earned her livelihood by running a sewing machine.

Minnie Hawk's father was a Goumair and a skeinmaker, in the most straitened circumstances. Her voice early attracted the attention of one of New York's richest men, who had it cultivated, and thus opened the way to fame for her.

Charlotte Cushman was the daughter of poor people, who, however, gave to an excellent education in the public schools. In order to maintain herself she resorted to become an open singer, but, a calamity struck her voice, became an actress instead.

The mother of Clara Louise Kellogg strained every nerve to give Clara a musical education, and at one time was a professional spiritual medium. Miss Kellogg failed three times. Each time she retired, not discouraged, but to devote herself to the still further development of her voice. Finally she took the public by storm. Her first failures were her last.

The only doctors and lawyers have had the hardest time to enter professional ranks. Nevertheless, they have made great headway since Elisabeth Blackwell valiantly applied for admission to the medical colleges in New York, Boston, and Philadelphia. She was finally admitted as a student in the medical college of Geneva, N. Y. Her youth was one of struggle, hardship, discouragement, and restricted means.

Edmonia Lewis, the sculptor, is colored. Overcoming the prejudice against her sex and color, and self-educated, Miss Lewis is now successfully pursuing her profession in Italy. Only one other colored woman ever gained distinction in the fine arts; that was the singer who called herself "The Black Swan" and who flourished about fifteen years ago. There has never been an author or actress of color beyond the nearest tyro, but no one can predict what the future may hold for colored people.

We have had two great female astronomers, Miss Herschell and Miss Mitchell. Both were single women, and both took up the study of astronomy in order to assist their brothers. Miss Herschell's pathway to fame was over a smooth road, but Miss Maria Mitchell had everything to do with it. She was the daughter of a small farmer in Nantucket, who was obliged to eke out his income by teaching school at $2 a week. Marlin was constantly occupied with household duties, and she describes her childhood as "being an endless washing of dishes."

It is a curious fact that so many of our celebrated literary women were the daughters of farmers and began their life work by teaching school—gradually acquiring fame and influence by writing. Take the Cary sisters to begin with, and Mrs. Lydia Sigourney, the poetess, before them, then Grace Greenwood, and lastly Ella Wheeler. Ella Wheeler never taught school, but her parents were poor farm people in the west. The first poem she ever wrote she sent to Mrs. Frank Leslie, who saw enough merit in it to accept it. Ella has bought her parents a home out of her own earnings, and is in every respect a most excellent daughter.

Clara Morris' mother was a cook in a restaurant in Cleveland when Clara was a lanky girl of 15 years of age. Manoring John Elder advertised for some extra girls for the hotel in a pantomime he was getting up. Clara applied for a place in the extra ballet. She wore an old, faded calico dress, much too short for her long legs, a thin shawl, and a ragged woolen scarf wrapped around her head. When the extra girls were no longer required Clara was retained for small parts. That was the beginning of the career of the great emotional actress, Clara Morris, who, by-the-way, is of English, not American, birth.

Auna Dickinson began life as a school teacher. Wearing of this, she one day went to Mrs. John Drew, manageress of the Arch Street theatre, Philadelphia, and entreated her to give her an opportunity to go upon the stage. Mrs. Drew heard her recite, told her that she had a very bad accent, that she did not think she would ever make an actress, and advised her to go back to her school teaching. The war broke out soon afterward, giving Miss Dickinson an opportunity to emerge from obscurity. She still secretly cherished dramatic aspirations, but years were destined to elapse before she was enabled to test whether Mrs. Drew had been a true prophet or not.—Celia Logan in Chicago News.

French "In She Is Spoke" In Cookery.

Apple—Savory jelly for cold dishes.

Au gratin—Dishes prepared with sauce and cravats and baked.

Bouchées—Very tiny patties or cakes as some indicates—mouthfuls.

Bata—A peculiar, sweet French yeast cake.

Bechamel—A rich, white sauce made with white flour.

Bisque—A white soup made of shell fish.

To blanch—To place any article on the fire, if it, then plunge it in cold water, to whiten poultry, vegetables, etc. To remove the skin by immersing in boiling water.

Bouillon—A clear soup, stronger than broth, yet not so strong as consomme, which is reduced soup.

Braise—Blast cooked in a closely covered pan, so that it retains its own flavor, and those of the vegetables and flavorings put with it.

Brioche—A very rich, unsweetened French bread made with yeast.

Cannelon—Stuff full rolled up meat.

Consonme—Clear soup of bouillon boiled down till very rich, i.e., consomme.

Croquettes—A savory mousse of fish or fowl made with sauce into shapes and fried.

Crostadates—Fried forms of bread to serve morsels or other morsels upon.

Entree—A small dish, usually served before courses at dinner.

Fondue—A light preparation of melted cheese.

Fondues—Sugar boiled, and beaten to a creamy paste.

Hollandaise Sauce—A rich sauce, something like hot mayonnaise.

Matzole—A rich fish stew, with wine.

Mayonnaise—A rich salad dressing.

Meringue—Sugar and white of egg beaten to sauce.

Marmade—A liquor of spices, vinegar, etc., in which fish meats are steeped before cooking.

Micot—Cold meat warmed in various ways, and dished in circular form.

Purso—This name is given to very thick soups, the ingredients for thickening which have been rubbed through a sieve.

Poulette Saumre—A bechamel sauce, to which white wine and sometimes eggs are added.

Ragout—A rich, brown stew, with mushrooms, vegetables, etc.

Riquante—A sauce of several flavors, acid predominating.

Quenelles—Forcemeat with bread, yolk of eggs, highly seasoned, and formed with a spoon to an oval shape, then poached and served either as a dish by themselves, or to garnish.

Rémoulade—A salad dressing differing from mayonnaise, in that the eggs are hard boiled and rubbed in a mortar with mustard, herbs, etc.

Risso—Rich mince of meat or fish, rolled in thin pastry and fried.

Roux—A cooked mixture of butter and flour, for thickening soups and stews.

Salmis—A rich stew of game, cut up and dressed, when half roasted.

Sauter—To toss meat, etc., over the fire, in a little fat.

Souffle—A very light, much chipped up pudding or omelette.

Timbale—A sort of pie in a mold.

Vol au vents—Patties of very light puff paste, made without a dish or mold, and filled with meat or preserves, etc.—Catherine Owen in Good Housekeeping.

To Get Rid of the Flies.

To us, in extremit, drafted a newspaper scrap which was neither official nor judicial. Somebody picked it up somewhere.

A man in a house would have caught it at all, as did we, but it bobbed at him from the crest of a wave.

It was not quite explicit in the directions it conveyed, but we got at the meaning of the extract and put it into practice as follows: We had Persian insect powder in the house, also the implement, in shape like a big hunting watch, with a small pipe let into one side, with which we had projected the yellow dust into corners where might lurk the eggs or pupae of moths. This we charged to the nozzle. The dust always reflected the light, and in her sonorous eyes the subtle flame of intelligence.

In the Parisienne, from the shop girl to the grande dame, there seems to be an infinite cult of her person, a respect of her ideals in her silhouette and bearing, and with a constant effort to refresh and remake herself in accordance with a marvelous ideal of beauty, grace, elegance and youth; to take from antiquity, from the east, from all ages and countries that which has constituted their peculiar elegance, and then to reduce those elements of elegance to the Parisian formula. Every Parisienne is a living work of art, the product of a mysterious collaboration of surroundings.—Paris Cor. London World.

The Singer and Her Baby.

At a small Parisian cafe that I recently, as the prima donna was commencing a particularly sentimental period, her strains were interrupted by the cries of a baby. As a matter of course there was an uproar, and cries of "Turn it out!" A giant, bearded like the yard, who was holding the infant in his arms, and who tried in vain to quiet it, stood up to expostulate. But the prima donna left him no time. "Ladies and gentlemen," she said, interrupting her song, "I had better tell you that baby is in me. If I do not give it its supper it will continue to cry." Stepping down from the platform she took the child in her arms; then, while it was enjoying its meal, she came back, made a sign to the pianist, and resumed her song as if nothing had happened.—Chicago Tribune.

LONDON NOT YET RECOGNIZED.

Towards evening the vanquished leaders sent in scouts, few in number and wary, to reconnoitre the battlefield. A repetition of the experiment of the preceding evening left not one to carry the tale.

If I have told it lightly it is because the affliction was not grievous on my deliverance we have beyond expression. Since then we have held our own successfully in the height of "High-thins."

In very hot weather the powder is used every night for a week or two at a time. In ordinary circumstances, and by observing common precaution in the matter of screen doors and darkened rooms, twice or three times a week suffice to keep the pleasure clear.

While the remedy leaves no trace of its recent presence to sight or smell after the door is swept and the furniture dusted, we have not thought it prudent to use it in bed chambers.

But we have learned that kitchen and dining-room are the enemy's headquarters, and that heroic measures here cut off supplies from the upper part of the house.—Marion Harland's Letter.

VARIOUS HOUSE-CLEANING HINTS.

In this season of general upturning and house-cleaning it may not be amiss to remember that ammonia in water cleanses glass and paint much better than soap does; that it sometimes costs less to have a badly soiled room repainted, after a moderate use of the mop and brush, than it does to have it scrubbed and scoured, to say nothing of the expenditure of strength; that salt and vinegar brighten brasses as well as any more modern and expensive potions; that a small bag of charcoal hung in a rainwater barrel purifies it perfectly; that plaster busts and statuary may be cleaned, when it is not desired to palm them, by dipping them into liquid starch and drying, and when the starch is brushed off with the dirt is brushed off with it; that it is good plan to go over the bedsteads before beginning any of the cleaning, as delay in these days when the sun has become strong is apt to increase the trouble there; that it is wise to open the campaign at the top of the house and in the unlined rooms, and so give less confusion and prominence to the affair; that, on reaching their breeding haunts at the bottom of the house, powdered borax mixed with a little powdered sugar and scattered about in spots will prove certain death to cockroaches; and if that is not handy, a few drops of spirits of turpentine sprinkled here and there will be as effective in the case of these nuisances as it is in the case of moths.—Chicago Tribune.

"Like the Venus de Medici."

In Paris the fashionable lady is henceforth to be allowed Louis XV. beds at home, in her carriage, and at the theatre, but not for walking or dancing.

She is informed that her waist should measure at least twenty-seven inches in circumference.

Thus the Venus de Medici, instead of twenty or twenty-one inches, as is too often the case with young French women, and she is invited to convince herself of the requirements of nature in this respect by going and looking at some of the pictures in the Louvre by some of the old Italian masters.—Chicago Herald.

NO PAGE AT THEIR WEDDINGS.

American brides take not kindly to the pictures just little page at their weddings.

Either "little brother" objects to being dressed up, or his sister is afraid to entrust her precious train to his tender mercy, for in this particular the English wedding has no followers here.

Children are a favorite decoration in these byzantine functions in England, and seem to be especially gotten up to compare with the elaborate surroundings.

It can't be these small British girls have better than Young America! So, that must not be said!—Boston Herald.

SPILLI WINE ON HER DRESS.

Foolish gossip tells of a belle, much alighted to extravagant dinner-tables, who invariably spills wine on her dress, or contrives to make somebody else do it, in order that it shall be known that she wears it to one dinner only.

If fuel and provisions were well in during the high tide of summer work.

If both parties remembered that they married for worse as well as for better.

If masculine bills for Havana and feminine dittos for rare lace were turned into the general fund until such time as they could be incurred without risk.

If men would remember that a woman can not always smile who has to cook the dinner, answer the door bell half a dozen times, and get rid of a neighbor who has dropped in, tend a sick baby, tie up the cut finger of a 2-year-old, tie up the head of a 5-year-old on skates, and get an 8-year-old ready for school, to say nothing of cleaning, sweeping, dusting, etc.

A woman with all this to contend with may claim it as a privilege to look and feel a little tired sometimes, and a word of sympathy would not be too much to expect from the man who, during the honeymoon, would not let her carry a sunshade.—Western Tribune.

MEASURED PEOPLE WOULD BE HAPPIER.

If home troubles were never told to neighbors.

If expenses were proportioned to receipts, as they tried to do as agreeable as courtship days.

If each remembered that the other was a human being, not an angel.

If fuel and provisions were well in during the high tide of summer work.

If both parties remembered that they married for worse as well as for better.

If masculine bills for Havana and feminine dittos for rare lace were turned into the general fund until such time as they could be incurred without risk.

If men would remember that a woman can not always smile who has to cook the dinner, answer the door bell half a dozen times, and get rid of a neighbor who has dropped in, tend a sick baby, tie up the cut finger of a 2-year-old, tie up the head of a 5-year-old on skates, and get an 8-year-old ready for school, to say nothing of cleaning, sweeping, dusting, etc.

A woman with all this to contend with may claim it as a privilege to look and feel a little tired sometimes, and a word of sympathy would not be too much to expect from the man who, during the honeymoon, would not let her carry a sunshade.—Western Tribune.

MEASURED BY THE SAME STANDARD.

Were we dreaming, or did a little bird whisper to us that a great organization was to be formed called the Daughters of Purity, in which men are to be measured by the same standard that they apply to the character of women?—Western Tribune.

WHEN MARRIAGE IS CONTEMPLATED.

One world-wide trouble is the coming together of two persons whose tastes are just as unlike as it is possible for them to be.

A girl who is fond of theatres, dances and amusements generally marries a man who cares nothing for all these, but would like to sit by his own hearthstone, reading and conversing with his wife upon the current topics of the day, or deeper things which she cares nothing about, but would rather talk theatre, the latest "star," etc., or fancy work. Depend upon it, where two such persons marry love soon walks out at the door.

Would it not, then, be wise to teach our young people to be perfectly honest and out.

We need the money due us for subscription and would be obliged to sell in streets to remit at once.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be so quietly cured or Salkin's Cure. We guarantee it. M. L. Bourne.

spoken when marriage is contemplated, and to learn to judge of how much they will be able to give up and live happily—to teach them that they can not give up all their natures call for and be happy or make others happy? This, I think, all will feel to be true in spite of the sentimentalism of the day in regard to love's sacrifice for its loved object.—Cor. Inter Ocean.

FOR PRETTY SHE WILL BE.

An English woman is beautiful by nature and not beautiful, and there is an end of the matter.

A Parisienne can rarely compete with the beautiful English or American women in feature or complexion and purity of skin, but she exerts such an effort of will in making herself fascinating that she often surpasses her rival in spite of natural disadvantages.

Take Rachel, for instance: Nature gave her a thin face with a large and prominent forehead, deep-set eyes, a sunken mouth, a pointed chin, a scraggy body and lean arms. Out of these natural materials, the little Jewess, by dint of genius, will, passion, love, and gold, produce such objects, made the Rachel that men will ever remember—a woman of Corinth or of Syracuse, with the caressing gesture of a statue by Coysevox, the intensity of a water color by Gavarini, lips that always reflected the light, and in her sonorous eyes the subtle flame of intelligence.

Most of the hucksters of the city start on their perambulations early in the morning, and are unfiring in the prosecutions of schemes to make a living. They may be divided into four classes: those who have horses, those who have hand carts, those who have baskets. Early in the morning, and before sunrise, appears the milkman, who leads the vanguard of the hucksters. He is some sort of a privileged character, for his cart traverses the sacred precincts of the Murray Hill district, where his mortal war whoop breaks upon the stillness of the night, and often greets revelers who return late. Milk has too many consonants to allow a prolonged announcement; hence some milkmen shout the word quickly, almost angrily, as if provoked at its awkward shortness. Others call out "Below!" probably in reference to the lower regions of the domes, while many let the metal clappers strike sharply on their cans when they drop from house to house the sky-blue pittance which supplies the